84.64. Driving Safety Instructor License Requirements.

(a) Application for licensing as a driving safety or specialized driving safety instructor shall be made on form prescribed by the department. A person is qualified to apply for a driving safety or specialized driving safety instructor license who holds a valid Class A, B, C, or CDL driver's license, other than learner license or provisional license, for the preceding three years in the areas for which the individual is to teach, which has not been revoked or suspended in the preceding three years.

(b) A person applying for an original driving safety or specialized driving safety instructor's license must submit to the department the following:

- (1) a complete application prescribed by the department;
- (2) the required fees;
- (3) documentation showing that all applicable educational requirements have been met; and
- (4) a clear and legible photocopy of the current, valid driver's license issued to the applicant.

(c) A person applying for a driving safety or specialized driving safety instructor license may qualify for the following endorsements:

(1) Driving safety instructor. The application shall include evidence of completion of 16 hours of training covering techniques of instruction and in-depth familiarization with material contained in the driving safety curriculum in which the individual is being trained and 12 hours of practical teaching in the same driving safety course and a statement signed by the course provider recommending the applicant for licensing. Alternatively, a currently licensed instructor may submit a copy of a current driving safety instructor license, a specialized driving safety instructor license, or a current driver education instructor license and evidence of 6 hours of training and 6 hours of demonstrative presentation teaching or practical teaching in the curriculum to be licensed.

The 6 hours of training shall cover techniques of instruction and in-depth familiarization with material contained in the driving safety curriculum. The 6 hours of demonstrative presentation or practical teaching shall be in the driving safety curriculum and under the direct supervision of a licensed driving safety instructor trainer endorsed in the same driving safety curriculum.
